

We're really pleased to announce that our Drama Musical Theatre classes will return on September 12th and we have a few limited spaces available for new students.

We've been working hard to get BMT back up and running as there's lots of changes to be made but we're so happy that the children can come to class again, reconnect with one another and have the opportunity to imagine, unwind, express themselves and most importantly have fun - things which they all need more than ever right now.

Rest assured that the safety and wellbeing of your children is at the forefront of all our decision-making and we will be following all the the latest government guidance to make sure we are all safe.
